FROM START

At the start of the school year, members of the Ecology Club clean up the garden so it can grow beautiful flowers during the spring.

Enjoying the first home basketball game of the year, Matthew Morningstar, Aaron Herman and Ryan Genshow cheer on the Lady Mariners.

To make sure they start off the season right, the Varsity football team gives it their all at practice.

Almost through with his 12-minute run, John Lyszczyk gives his approval for a great finish.

The bell rings to start classes, 59 minutes later it rings again and class is finished. From Start to Finish. The football game starts with a kick off and four quarters later it finishes with a Mariner Victory! From Start to Finish. Freshman year starts off with many scared, nervous students, then three years later they're self-assured seniors, walking across the stage with a diploma in hand. From Start to Finish.

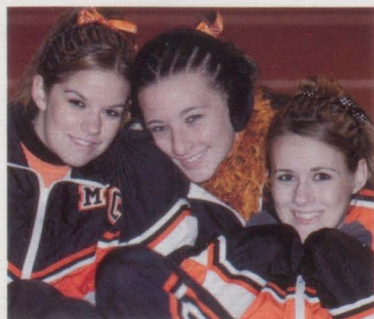

From Start to Finish can be seen not only in daily activities, but throughout our entire high school career. Everything we do has a beginning and an end. Whether it be our 6th hour literature class or our sophomore year, we are constantly starting new adventures and ending old ones. In between, we learn, we change, we cry and we laugh. The 2005-2006 Mariner Yearbook focuses on our beginnings, our endings and everything in between. The good, the bad, the difficult and especially the fun, are all here for us to remember high school From Start to Finish.

Smiles and waving hands are all that the on-lookers see during the Homecoming parade. Dena Furtah and Maddison Riehl are obvious examples of that!

Getting pumped up for the first pep assembly of the year, the Mariner Man roams the hallways during school.

BEFORE School

Sleepy Starving Slow Speeding

All bundled up, Adam Hodgins walks into school and to his locker to get ready for first hour.

These three girls, Kelly Kucharski, Hannah Schmitz and Megan McEntee, forgot to let everyone know that it was "wear your green shirt to school day."

Sean O' Brien and Bobby Duddy roam the hallways early in the morning and are obviously excited to get their day started!

While Zack Ostin pays for his candy bar, Chad Zimmerman carefully counts back the change and sends Zack off to have a great day.

The alarm clock buzzes, "WAKE UP!" Turning, the sleepy head begs, "One more minute please!" Twenty minutes pass and mom approaches for the third and final time, "You'd better get up now, for crying out loud!" Grumpy, startled by mom's nasty tone, the comatose teen rushes to get out of bed. "Oh gosh! I only have 15 minutes to get ready!" Out the door and ready to go in 16 1/2 minutes, her day begins by waking up late, getting dressed in gym shorts and a mismatched t-shirt, brushing her teeth, applying her makeup and doing her hair, just enough to look like Courtney Love.

With her primping done, it's time to shovel in a healthy breakfast: a Pop-Tart. Running out the door, the readied freshman heads off for another glorious day at Marine City High School.

Riding to school with her older brother, they pick up two friends on the way. Because they are running behind, she doesn't get much time to mingle with friends or check her lip-gloss before rushing through the crowds. Hearing the dreaded two-minute warning bell, the freshman sprints off to her first hour, knowing that her homework isn't done and it's only her second day at MCHS!

Far left: Walking to class are juniors Jenna Romas and Jessica Zyrowski. They are definitely excited to be at school today and show off their enthusiasm to the entire student body.

Lovebirds, Ashleigh Mangas and Shawn DuVall, walk hand-in-hand to class together.

They could be preparing for that first hour quiz, juniors Katie Johnson, Ashley Wiegand, Nicole Kliner and Ashley Logan decide to socialize instead.

Tony Roberts was wishing that he was back in that warm bed of his instead of being at school as he gives a huge yawn.

Waiting for the TEC bus, Eric Myers and Brandyn Militello hang out until it's time to leave.

The bell rings, class has begun. The halls quickly empty as everyone scurries to make it to class. Some get caught in the traffic and don't make it on time, but others get there early and are just fine. Everyone's sleepy and hardly awake, there are blank expressions on everyone's face. Second hour is almost a repeat of first, as sleepy heads fall and drool on the history book. Third hour comes, the pace quickens and more become awake. The first half of the day creeps by slowly, everyone listening in for the bell to ring again. Everyone waits for lunch, their favorite part of the day.

Finally the bell rings at 10:33, and a sea of hungry students flood the hallways. Everyone rushes to be the first one in line, whether it be in the school store, the lunch line, or McDonald's or Dairy Queen. Underclassmen must stay in, but some try to sneak out. A certain few get away with it, but the unlucky ones get caught. Lunch is the very busiest time of the day. The halls are extremely crowded with people at their lockers, and chatting with friends. The library is full with homework skippers on computers doing yesterday's assignment or playing games online. Other times it's packed with people in meetings planning their next big event. Between BPA, Student Government, NHS, and various other activities, it seems there is always something going on in the library.

The next three hours of the day seem like they'll never end. During fourth hour, some students are either hyped up from lunch or back in a sleepy stage. It may be a challenging math class, or a test in literature again. Once sixth hour comes the day is almost over. Students check their planners for the homework they must finish that night. Sitting in class, some students watch the clock change, but a second feels like an eternity. When the last bell finally rings, it's done. Everyone rushes to their lockers, pushing against the crowd. Once students finally make it to their locker, they put the books and folders away and grab the things they must take home and leave the school as soon as they are able to. They think to themselves, 10 days of school down, only 170 left to go!

After School

After school, a group of friends enjoy the football game and watch as the Mariners win another big game!

All set and ready to go Trick or Treating are Sylvia Hamara and Lisa Gostiaux

During the first football game, this group of juniors gets together after the band is done with their performance.

Cleaning and taking care of her horse, keeps Hannah Schmitz busy at the stable after school.

2:21...students are watching the clock waiting for the final bell of the day to ring. It seems like time is dragging on. Finally, the bell rings...free time...its 2:23, some students split up and leave school behind. Some students head to practice for various athletic teams, others leave to go to work for a few hours, while the rest of the student body goes home, does homework, watches TV, or plays video games. After school is free time where a student can do as they please. This is the time to be a teenager. Being a student doesn't matter anymore because when the last bell rings, there are no more students.

On most nights, students go home and do homework. After dinner, students often attend plays, basketball games, volleyball matches or swim meets. The student body at MCHS supports their fellow classmates and encourages them in whatever they participate. Whether it is the gym filled on a Tuesday evening, or a stadium packed on a Friday night, their Mariner Pride is obvious. Students take great pride in being a Mariner, and it is shown on those nights where the parking lot is full or there's no seats left in the theatre.

Students are only in high school for four years. Within those four great years, most try to make the best of their time, creating great memories, making lots of friends, and enjoying the years of their teenage life. In Marine City High School, many of those qualifications are met and are greatly exceeded. Many people outside of this small community wishes they were Mariners, and no matter what anyone says... it's great to be a Mariner.

Look at the rock on that finger! Deanna Rybarczyk giggles as she shows off her bling bling!

After the Mariners score a touchdown, an extra point or have an extraordinary play, the cannon shoots off from the ship.

Working along with her dad, Erin Kephart helps to produce another wonderful Channel 6 show.

Having a good time at the Cross-Country Olympics are Allen Yokom and Josh Brenner.

Juniors vs. Seniors

Above: Before the game starts senior Chelsie Smith puts an intimidating face on to scare the junior Powder Puff players and to pump up her teammates.

With all the smack-talk aside it was time for the annual meeting between the junior and senior girls as the Powder Puff game was played. After several weeks of practices the day of the big game was finally here. At the end of 6th hour, the seniors read off their intimidation speech to the juniors and for the rest of the school to hear. This got all of the players pumped up and ready to play some football.

The stands were filled as the Powder Puff players arrived. Both senior and junior Powder Puff girls had astonishing arrivals. The seniors came in on a Duce and Half truck, or what others call it, an army truck, that was ready to do some damage. The juniors had a unique arrival, as they arrived on a trolley that was rockin'.

The faces of all the Powder Puff girls were painted which showed school spirit. Getting the fans in the stands pumped up for the game were the Powder Puff cheerleaders. There was so much excitement on the faces of the players, fans, coaches, and cheerleaders. As the game began there was so much adrenaline on the field. Soon enough the seniors scored their first touchdown, but not long after the Juniors scored their first too. By the end of the first half, the score was 8-6 with the seniors in the lead.

During the second half, the lead of the game was going back and forth. With only three minutes remaining, the score was tied 14-14, and for the disadvantage of the juniors, the seniors got the ball back. The juniors gave it their all to win but during the last few seconds the seniors scored the final touchdown. It was another victorious win for the senior Powder Puff girls that will go down in Mariner history.

Homecoming Float Building

Cut Tie Design TEAMWORK

Snip, snip, snip! That's the sound that Senior, Junior, Sophomore, and Freshmen float builders could hear in their sleep. Cutting all the colors to tie into a creative, and hopefully first place float was the goal. The Freshmen had their first experience with float building, while the experienced Seniors finished up for their last time. All the float builders worked very hard to design, construct, and achieve the idea they wanted to create.

The Senior class tied up their last year with a masterpiece that earned them first place. The Senior theme, the Headless Horseman, corresponded with the Legends of Fall Homecoming theme. The Seniors' float was very detailed, the horse's legs and the headless horseman's head even moved. Many hours were spent at Samantha Gamble's house over the weekend and throughout the week to accomplish the final product.

The Junior class was extremely dedicated. Some girls even spent the night at Lauren Aures' on the weekend to work on the float. Their dedication and hard work paid off in the end, with a terrific float. The theme for the Juniors was Nightmare on Meisner Road, after the Freddy Kruger movie Nightmare on Elm Street.

A haunted graveyard is always scary and the Sophomore float was not an exception. The float turned out looking awesome and very intimidating, making it a second place success. The Sophomore float was designed, built, and tied together at Alisha Klaassen's house.

The Freshman float was very original. It showed graves of all the past teams demolished by the Varsity Mariners' football team this season. Some of the graves were: the Clintondale Dragons, the Marysville Vikings, and the Warren Woods Tower Titans. The graves were created at Brad Francis' house. The Freshmen float turned out looking absolutely fantastic.

The last minute scrambling of all grades paid off in the end. All four floats were finished on time and looked in top shape for the annual Homecoming parade. After being pulled in the parade they were displayed at the football game for all to see. That's where the results of the float building contest were announced. The Seniors reigned above all with a well deserved first place.

The homecoming activities this year hit the ground running, with spirit week leading the pack. Students displayed their Mariner pride by creatively participating in the designated themes of each day. The competition was fierce between the individual classes and the staff.

Kicking off the week was Pajama Day, where flannel pants and fuzzy slippers flooded the hallways. The comfortable pjs made for a pretty relaxed day, however, excitement was still inspired amongst the students despite the laziness of the theme. Tuesday was the ever-famous Hat Day, where most of the school came sporting their favorite lids. Wednesday, the most creative of the themes was left up to the students for their own interpretation of Dress-up Day. The students of Marine City saw an assortment of get-ups, ranging anywhere from leisure suites to big bird costumes. Toga Day was on Thursday and as usual a big hit, every type of bed sheet imaginable came to school wrapped around the seniors. For the underclassmen Thursday was Twin Day where friends and soul mates dressed alike. Finally on Friday the staff and students came wearing their native orange and black to lead their mighty Mariner football team into battle, and eventually helped them bring home another homecoming victory.

Moping through the hallway during pajama day is Josh Brenner.

Although separated by a great rivalry George Toles and Ali Negro are still able to give a smile.

Homecoming Cheer Organize V-I-C-T-O-R-Y Games Assembly

Blowing up balloons to decorate the stage is junior Shawn McCulloch.

V-I-C-T-O-R-Y! That's our Mariner battle cry! The entire student body was on their feet sixth hour during the homecoming assembly. Lead by the varsity cheerleaders everyone was pumped up for the football game versus Lakeshore. With a combination of coronation, games, a deejay, the drum line, and the cheerleaders, the pep assembly was one filled with excitement and spirit.

As the color guard spun their flags, the homecoming court walked gracefully across the gym to center stage to be coronated. After the princes and princesses were coronated, Queen Becky Kerby and King Keith Emery were crowned. Together they gave a speech and gave the game ball to the varsity football captains. This signaled the deejay to let the games begin. There was the toilet paper wrap where someone from each grade was wrapped up like a mummy. There was the pillow race, caterpillar race, and five-legged race that students from each grade participated in. Last but not least was the Tug-O-War, where the almighty seniors dominated over the sophomores and won.

There were two performances given during the assembly. For the first time, the drum line gave a performance. Completely original, the band members created an awesome sound that held the crowd captivated. When they threw their sticks to the ground and marched out of the gym the crowd was cheering on their feet. The cheerleaders also performed a dance routine that had synchronized flips and stunts paired with many dance moves.

"We're number one!" the football team chanted as the students left the gym. Ensuring a victory for the Mariners over the Shorians gave the pep assembly a perfect end and a perfect start to homecoming weekend 2005.

Finishing off the assembly, the Marine City football team ensures a win over Lakeshore.

The bell rang. Students excitedly rushed into the gym. Sixth hour was cut short, and it was time to hear whom the 2005 Homecoming Court would be. As anticipation filled the stands the cheerleaders lead the school in Mariner chants. Just as it seemed students would burst with eagerness, Lindsay Ostin, the Student Government President, rose to announce the final results. The freshmen cheered loudly as their Prince, Jacob Dewey, and Princess, Calsie Holloman, were announced. Filled with equal excitement were the sophomores upon hearing that Karie Schmid and Trent Knight were their Princess and Prince. The juniors exuberantly gave their support as Megan McEntee and Courtney Jacobs were announced as the Princesses and as Kyle Coon and Cody McCulloch were declared the Junior Princes. The seniors responded to the announcement of Marissa Holloman and Kendra Russell as their Princesses with boisterous approval, and when David Packer and Alex Maggetti were proclaimed the Senior Princes they were also commended. The students quieted down, eager to hear whom the King and Queen would be. The students erupted in applause as Keith Emery and Becky Kerby were pronounced King and Queen. The newly acclaimed Homecoming court left the gym to hear the responsibilities they would now have to fulfill.

On Friday, at the homecoming assembly, a silence filled the gym as the Homecoming court was formally introduced to the school, and any parents that came to watch. They captivated the audience in their stunning dresses and sharp suits as they made their way to the stage to be crowned. King Keith and Queen Becky gave a speech wishing the football team good luck, and in return the team gave Queen Becky a game ball. The assembly continued with games as the court watched in amusement.

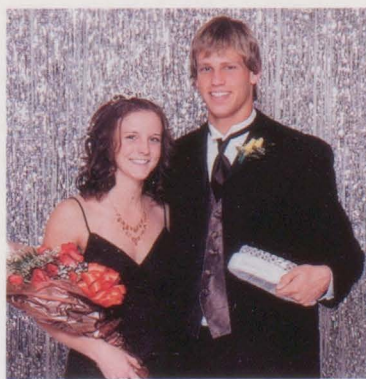

Later that day the court participated in the parade. They smiled and waved from the convertibles (or truck bed in the Juniors' case) as the crowd gathered to see them. That night the court was introduced to the whole town at the football game. They paraded down the field in their dress attire, and also the cold, as their profiles were read. The next event, in which they were the guests of honor, was the Homecoming dance. The students formed a circle around the court as they were introduced, and cheered loudly as the court danced. Once the dance concluded the responsibilities of the 2005 Homecoming court had been met. The court and the student body however, would have many fond memories to look back on for years to come.

Hay bails, cornstalks and pumpkins welcomed guests to the 2005 Legends of Fall Homecoming dance. After a day of hair appointments, manicures, car washing and going out to dinner, the school began to fill with anxious people waiting to get into the dance. Outside fog crept around the gravestones aged with time and covered with spider webs and feet of those waiting to get in. The first hall was lined with cornstalks and eerie bats hung overhead. As the students walked down the next hall spiders and spider webs of all shapes and sizes, greeted the guests. The activity center was transformed into our own Marine City Orchard. There were bails of hay and cornstalks all around the room. Along the back wall was covered to look like the front of a barn. Across from that was a great mural of the night's sky and in the shadows of the moon were silhouettes of houses, trees and creepy cemeteries. If guests looked really close, hiding in the darkness, was a pair of eyes that would follow you around.

The autumn chill was quickly replaced by warmth for all the people in the gym who were dancing the night away. The deejay kept everyone moving whether it was to a romantic slow song or a loud, exciting beat. As is tradition the dance ended with the senior circle dance, and the night that had been greatly anticipated since the beginning of the school year seemed to end too fast.

The boys in black once again struck gold...MAC Gold. The 2005 Mariners started off their season early by hitting the weights in the winter of 2004. Over the summer they spent their time in the weight room, going to speed training, and conditioning as a team. Practice was in full swing by early August. The Mighty Mariners put their time, work, and heart into every practice. No matter the weather, they were out there improving their skills.

On August 26th they faced Mt. Clemens in their first game. The hard work and dedication paid off with a victory 48-6. As the season progressed they ran into some tough competition including Warren Woods Tower, Marysville, and Lincoln. It wasn't until the Mariners faced their longtime rivals, the St. Clair Saints, that they suffered an agonizing defeat. Though St. Clair came out on top, the Mariners showed unity and very good sportsmanship. They came back strong the next week with a 21-14 victory against Centerline, and won the next two games against Clintondale and Fitzgerald. The team finished off their season with a 49-0 shut out against Lakeshore for Homecoming weekend. The Mariners ended up 8-1, Mac Gold Champs, and once again headed to the Playoffs.

The Mariners had even more great success during the playoffs. They started off beating Algonac 48-17. They won their 2nd game against Richmond 38-27 to become the District Champs! It wasn't until the 3rd game where the Mariners lost the Regional game against Flint Powers. The Mariners had a great season.

Driving to the basket past a Mt. Clemens defender is senior guard Becky Kerby.

Throughout the season, the Lady Mariners had a few unexpected challenges, but they finished their season strong. They did it by playing "all out, all the time" at every practice and every game. A big highlight of the season was defeating Lakeview with a come-from-behind win in the fourth quarter.

The most important team goal that the ladies set in the beginning of the season was to become a team, and play like a team. Their year was successful because they accomplished this goal through various activities such as team dinners, which helped establish good team chemistry.

Senior power dominated the team with returning seniors, Kelly Kucharski, Aubrey Zimmerman, Holly Beversdorf, Becky Kerby, Georgia Dewey, and Jessica Snyder. There were also several younger players that proved that they deserved a spot on the varsity basketball team. They were juniors Nicole Mazey, Becky Andrews, sophomores Jessica Rombach, Aubrey Smith, Brittney Rhodes, and freshman Kassie Snyder.

Led by head coach Kevin Leeman and assisted by Joe Daly, the team learned many lessons. They learned how to play with passion and what it takes to be a team. They also learned about leadership and what it takes to be a leader.

KICK run pass SCORE! Soccer

Mercy. Shutout. Hat tricks. That's what Mariner soccer was all about this year. Mariner history was made this year by the soccer team recording their first mercy, which was also a shutout, with a score of 10-0 against Madison. The Mariners finished fourth in the MAC Silver league this year, with the stats of six wins, five losses and one tie; they were 6-9-3 for the overall season. With over half of the players being new on the team, that was pretty good. Of the new players there were three seniors, one junior, one sophomore, five freshmen, and two foreign exchange students. Many of the freshman players were starters in most of the games. The Mariners may not have won the Burns' trophy this year, but they did beat Marysville twice. Four players, Alves, Bieske, Young, and Galelli, scored hat tricks in various games. Freshman goalie, Michael Dolan came in as an extreme asset to the team, "We are thrilled to have him for three more years," stated Coach Pizzo.

Coach Pizzo was assisted this year by his son, Mariner soccer alumni Nick Pizzo. Seniors Andy Henderson and Bryan Shackett were the team captains this year, with Josh Bieske, Robert Lynch, and David Packer providing additional leadership. The usual injuries occurred, including Packer's broken nose, the constantly bruised legs of exchange students Matheus Galleli and Francisco Alves, Rose-Gray's bruised ribs, the scraping of Dolan's shins, and Sausser getting elbowed in the ribs. But luckily, forward Jon Firman beefed up and appeared to have taken acrobatics this year. He was the target for many hits, but he always got up unscathed. All in all the season went well, and there were a lot of memorable good times for the Mariner soccer team.

Top: Goalie, Michael Dolan, kicks the ball away from his net, back to the opponent's territory. "The crowd cheering for me," he says is his favorite part of the game.

Right: Upon seeing the camera, Jason Sausser has to pose while helping to carry the water jug into the locker room after the game.

Top: Proud to be this year's Mariner soccer captains are Andy Henderson and Bryan Shackett.

Middle: Excited to be experiencing soccer in America are foreign exchange students Matheus Galelli and Francisco Alves.

Bottom right: Watching their teammates, half of the soccer team sit on the bench waiting for their own turn to be out on the field, while the assistant coach, Nick Pizzo, also watches the boys at the other end of the field.

Front: Leah Kane, Karie Schmid.

“Bang” the girl’s dove off the boards into to start out another great year. The team started practicing this year two weeks before the school year even started, and they kicked up the heat as they tied Centerline in their very first meet. With returning swimmers and new swimmers the team was ready to kick it up another notch this year. There were many first place finisher this year including: Nicole Lubinski, swimming the 100 Breaststroke, Cynthia Heintz, swimming the 500 Freestyle, Samantha Fraley, swimming the 100 Freestyle, and Amber Reinhold, swimming the 50 Freestyle.

With a solid senior section the team pulled up some astounding wins. The swimmers went into every game knowing the outcome before they got into the water, if they thought they could win, they won, if they didn’t believe it, they lost. The team only lost one league meet this year. Way to go ladies! The swim team hosted the Blue Water Classics this year where the team placed third. The team was up for some great challenges this year as they faced many hard opponents.

The team didn’t break any records but in their hearts they challenged everyone with dignity. There were many obstacles that they had to face including introducing new freshmen to the team. They had fun this year, with pasta parties and funny inside jokes, they had a lot of time to laugh after. As they ended their swim season they headed into regionals with their heads held high ready to face whatever was coming at them. The teams started out this year great, and have ended it even better. That is what makes the Mariner Swim and Dive team the best team in town!

Waiting patiently to splash into the water is Abbey Capling.

Can you say VICTORY? Dena Furtah races in to make finish.

VARSITY Golf

pitch putt practice play

Does it break left? Does it break right? Is it uphill? Is it downhill? For the Mariner Golf team it was right in the center of the cup. The Mariners capped off another winning season with only one loss in the league. They entered the season with high hopes. They had four key players back to lead them through the season with the rest of them stepping up when they were needed most. The varsity team was lead by: Kyle Krueger, Brent Welser, Paul Gale, Alex Bassett, Brian Westrick, and Brent Westrick. In the first match of the year the team shattered the school record by seven strokes. The team fired a 137 and breaking the old record of 143 strokes set the previous year.

This year the league format changed, the Mariners had to play in districts before they could advance to the regionals. The team snuck one in and made it. Before the regional, the golfers had their league meet. They placed second in the tournament with Kyle Krueger shooting a 74 to tie for medalist, this led Kyle into a playoff, where he lost by one stroke. The following Friday they returned to Riverview Highlands looking for revenge. Even though it was another windy day, the team managed fairly well placing 8th. Kyle Krueger shot well enough to advance to the State Finals, which were held at Michigan State University. There, Kyle had a frustrating time and was disappointed with his finish. "The Mariners aren't going to look that bad next year" Mr. Parsons stated. Next year they will have three of their six starters returning so if they can find a few guys that can step up for them they will be able to contend for the league championship yet again. The 2005 season was sure a year to remember for the Mariners.

Above: Bumming a ride from Mr. Parsons is Paul Gale, Alex Bassett, Brent Welser, and Kyle Krueger. They hopped on to avoid the steep up hill climb to the treacherous seventh green.

Above right: Chipping on the fourth hole and almost going in the woods Zach Cuhna knocks it on the green, where he then sank the putt to save the hole.

Middle right: After giving it a rip, Andrew Salisbury stares it down as it trickles on the green. That was one of many great shots to come that day.

Top right: Giving the ball pure power, Brent Welser comes off the ground and smokes it down the middle of the fairway. That tee shot got him fired up and propelled him through his round.

The speed in the Kentucky Derby and the endurance in the Tour de France is nothing when compared to Marine City Cross Country. "Teamwork, concentration, and running fast while staying relaxed are key components in Cross Country," said Varsity runner and team captain Marissa Holloman. It was these components that guided the Girls' Varsity team to Reserve Champs in the Mac Gold, and the Boys' Varsity Team to an outstanding 12-4 record.

Preparation started long before the first race though. In July the runners went to MC4, a Cross Country camp sponsored by the coaches, Girls' coach, Coach Shagnea and Boys' coach, Coach Larson, which entailed a week of conditioning. Practice officially started on August 15th, and from then on the runners practiced 5 days a week for over an hour and a half. Although practices were always tough, excitement was never absent. The excitement took many forms, including: playing "Seek and Destroy", the annual Cross Country Olympics, or even just the coaches acting amusing. Through the practices the runners were able to develop their skills and reduce their times. Improvement occurred, and by the end of the season Becky Markel and Alexandria Vintevoghel received first team all league titles, and Alexandria went to States. The inspiration for such accomplishments stemmed not only from the coaches, but also from the captains. The Girls' team captains were seniors Marissa Holloman, Lisa Meldrum, and Alicia Cushard, and the Boys' team captains were juniors Brad Yadon and George Toles. Just as the season began with hard work and dedication, the season also ended with the same components. The runners worked hard right through the last race and were able to finish not only with good times, but also with a sense of improvement.

Way to go... This definitely describes the efforts of the girls' varsity tennis team. From practices to games, the team gave their best efforts to the season's new challenges. With new talent joining the team they had to work extra hard but they pulled through and had an incredible season. "The team is becoming more successful every year," stated Jason Perrin, second year coach. "They plan to continue to grow as a team, improve their skills, and become strong competitors." Perrin was right and the girls received first place at the MAC Silver Conference and finished the season with a 4-7 record.

Helping Mr. Perrin this year was captain Senior, Michelle Schueneman and co-captain Junior, Christina Lake. Michelle worked really hard this year improving not only herself but also helping the new, inexperienced players thrive. Team record holders this year included Christina Lake, with a singles record of 9-3 and a first place at Mt. Clemens Tournament. Leading doubles were partners' freshman Emily Rose-Gray and junior Tiffany Morningstar. This duo ended the season with a 5-7 record and a 1st place at MAC Silver. The team worked really hard but there was also time for fun at team dinners. Overall, these Mariner girls had a great year! Way to go!

Step down, watch out, team is what it's about. These are just a few words taken from the cheer performed before every home football game. This season's Varsity football cheerleaders had so much talent and wouldn't give up, and it showed. They reached their goal for the 2nd season in a row, having a team that can perform back handsprings.

<Perfect>

The season started off with hot summer practices, and a challenging cheer camp at Beast. The girls had practice from 2:45-5:00 everyday after school. Each Monday consisted of an hour long gymnastics class (to further their tumbling skills,) and followed by sign making (to decorate the field and raise everyone's spirits.) The rest of the week the girls perfected whether it was their stunts, cheers, gymnastics, or even jumps. But no matter what, every practice ended with conditioning.

The team was led by Coach Burmann and captains Calla Maynard, Jessica Gisting, and Katelyn Parslow. This season's cheerleaders were not only very talented, but they were very creative as well. They got together with so many new ideas. They worked very hard to make the pep assemblies more enjoyable for everyone. They tried getting more people involved, and did just that. The 2005 pep assemblies have been the best ever. Good job girls!

Mariner Drama was "Rockin the Boat" with their production of Guys and Dolls, which was a musical about gamblers who have to pick between their hobbies, gambling, and the women they love. The storyline follows scenes of gambling, marriages, salvation meetings, busy New York streets, and a famous nightclub called The Hot Box. Mariner Drama put on two wonderful evening performances for the public, and one matinee performance for the Marine City Middle School on December 2nd and 3rd, 2005.

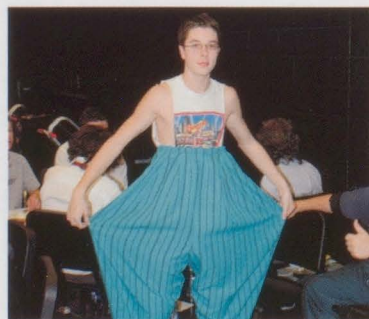

The cast, crew and pit band spent long hours memorizing lines, singing, dancing, hanging backdrops, setting up the stage, and memorizing music. Play leads were Alicia Menchacha as Sarah Brown, Alex Maggetti as Sky Masterson, Aubrey Bourgeois as Miss Adelaide, and Shawn McCulloch as Nathan Detroit. Other roles were George Toles as Nicely-Nicely Johnson, Jason Sausser as Benny Southwest, Greg Wnuk as Rusty Charlie, D.J. McKellar as Arvide Abernathy, Allen Yokom as Harry the Horse, and Sean O'Brien as Lt. Brannigan. Luck sure was on their side for all the productions as everyone enjoyed themselves tremendously. The dinners, laughter and good times were much appreciated by everybody. Mariner Drama once again outdid themselves with their great performances under the direction of Mr. McCulloch, who was helped by Mr. Van Dyke with vocals, and Mr. Decker on the pit band.

Basketball Staff vs Students

DESTROY Dominate DEFEND Dribble

Another year of staff vs. student basketball, and another staff victory. The game was held during 6th hour, and due to the students' impressive generosity, the entire student body was able to attend. The students were able to raise 3,335 cans of food, which were donated the Marine City Food Pantry.

During the pre-game warm-ups there was some serious intimidation, with players on both sides "throwin' down" left and right. When it came down to crunch time, the tension could have been cut with a knife. Both sides had a lot to play for: the staff had a four-year winning streak to protect, and the seniors had a great deal of pride on the line. The opening tip off was a memorable one, Chris Sass used his craftiness to steal the ball from "the friendly giant" Mr. Daly. After that, both teams came out a little sluggish missing shots on both sides of the court. The staff took an early lead and kept building upon it until the end of the half. At halftime the entire school witnessed a marvelous performance from the staff cheerleaders. They got the crowd into the game to help push the students to a strong second half start. The students came out firing in the second half flaunting their youth and athleticism, they ran past the aging staff. The game came down to the wire where faulty scoring may have played a part, but nonetheless wisdom prevailed as the staff achieved their fifth straight victory in the annual game.

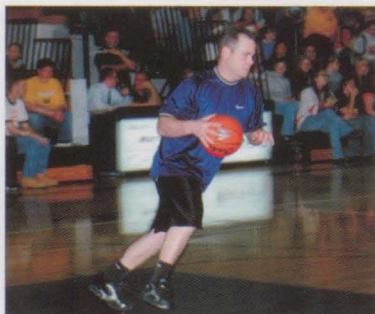

After the game Chris Sass had a few words to say about his opponents. Not concerned with the loss, he said, "Mr. Daly is a strong player, but is no match for my game behind the arc". Aaron Herman was still quite hostile after the crooked scoring, however he was proud of the fact that he shut down Scar.

Elevating to new heights, Ian Walker defends Mr. Glodich's pass to another staff teammate.

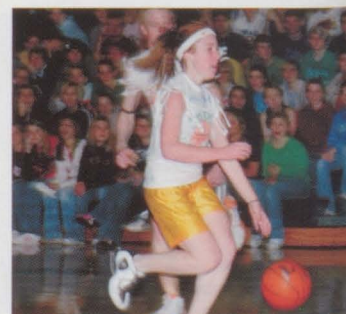

The female teachers support their co-workers in some unorganized cheering throughout the entire game.

With impressive ball handling skills, Mr. Moore takes the ball up the court.

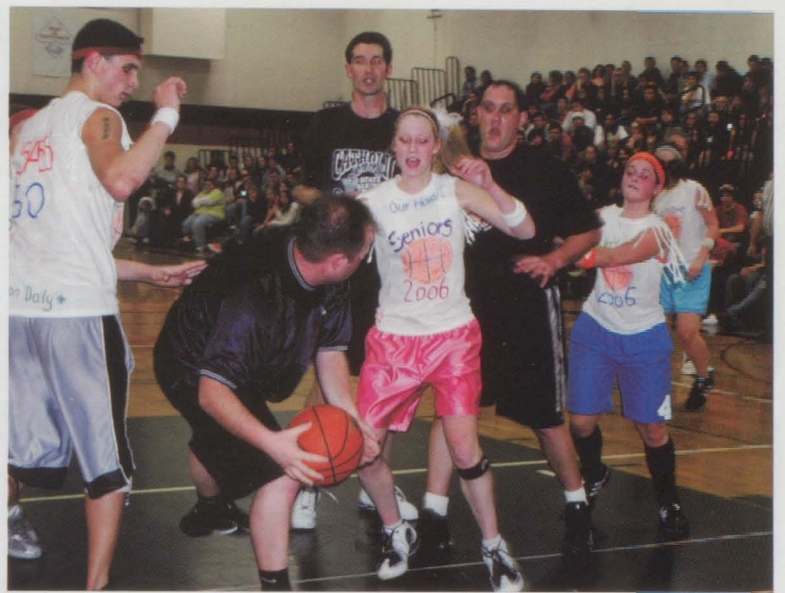

With the seniors in the huddle, Mr. Longuski tries to pump some spirit into his team of students.

Running the offense with ease, Holly Beversdorf calls the play.

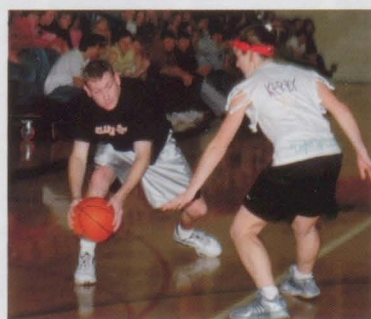

Above: Trying to save the ball, Mr. Moore has no choice, because of great defense by the students, but to throw it to the other team.

Mr. Leeman may have underestimated Becky Kerby's defense as she shuts him down.

Chris Sass is not quite high enough to block Mr. Daly from sinking another three pointer for the staff members.

Even after a tough loss, the girls huddle around Coach Longuski to show off their great team spirit.

It's funny how they tell you that it goes by so fast, yet how that Wednesday in February can just seem to drag out for ages. Then it hits you, though, a few weeks before graduation, and everyone gets a little sappy, but you realize that this is it- the last few classes, the last few lunches, and you're out of there. It's exhilarating, scary, and a little overwhelming, but let's be honest, it's a long time coming.

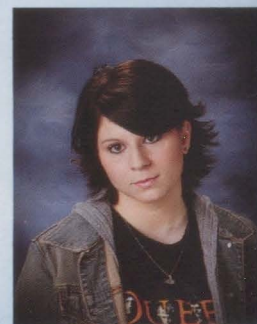

Because four years ago, they sent you into this thing called high school, and they threw you into the stands and expected you to chant V-I-C-T-O-R-Y like you knew what you were doing. They loaded you down with sports equipment and instruments, and pounds and piles and lockers full of books, and then they asked you to find some spare time to take a little test- your road test. The next year got a little harder, and they threw a few more tests your way with acronyms like MEAP and ACT (as if anyone taking the test actually knows what ACT stands for). And they call you into the counseling office one day and ask you- a seventeen year old high student- what you want to do with the rest of your life. Oh, and the deadline is Friday, so you better know by then.

But all this time, there are 164 kids in the same situations as you. There are 50 other black tee-shirted fans screaming about the ref's last call, and every single student is up and out the second that bell rings at the end of sixth hour December 21. Tons of people leap to their feet to see and to shout for that interception, and everyone is holding their breathe before the homecoming queen is announced. It's times like these that you look around and realize you're not alone.

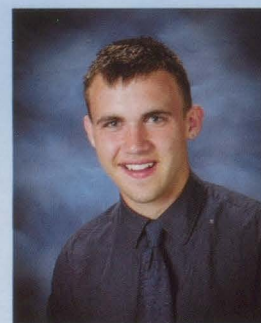

For four years the senior class has had it's ups and downs and lots of winding turns, but they've always had each other along the way. And no matter how hard the tests were or how tiring the practices, there have always been friends and good times.

The senior class of 2006 was lead by vice president Janine Jenken, president Kelly Kucharski, secretary Aubrey Zimmerman, and treasurer Alyssa Yeip. The class officers organized floatbuilding, graduation, and senior elections.

Jason Thueme
4.0

Jason's family has had a significant impact on him throughout the years. He is the son of Judith and David Thueme and has one sister, Christina. Jason was a pole vaulter in track, a member of a bowling league, NHS, and a participant in various activities through his church. Last summer Jason spent three weeks at Trinity Lutheran Seminary for their Summer Seminary Sampler program. He also worked as a trap keeper at Perch Pointe Conservation club and cutting and weed whacking lawns. Jason plans to attend Wartburg College in Iowa to double major in pre-seminary and writing. He hopes to obtain a Master's of Divinity degree and then a doctorate to become a religion professor, a pastor or both.

Kelly Kucharski is the daughter of Bill and Sheila Kucharski and has one younger brother, Bill, and one younger sister, Lesley. Kelly is the Senior Class President and a member of NHS, BPA, student government, drama, and a third year member of yearbook. Kelly played the trombone in the school band until her junior year and took part in the jazz band and Solo and Ensemble competitions. Captain of the girl's varsity basketball team her senior year, she received All-League, co-MVP, and returning Defensive Player of the Year. Not only was Kelly a three-year varsity basketball player, she was a four-year varsity track member. She has ran in the state track meet every year and last year qualified for the 100m dash and 200m dash by placing second in the region. Since her sophomore year she has been All Blue Water Area first team and All-League first of second team for the 100m or 200m dashes. This year she is a team captain. Outside of school Kelly participates in indoor track and has qualified for the indoor state championship as well as last year. She has a job in the summer as a groundskeeper. Next year Kelly plans to attend the University of Michigan to run track and to study law.

Winterfest Energetic Spirit Wild Week Imaginative

The week of Winterfest was filled with exciting activities and wacky apparel. We started out the week in pajamas. Then, Tuesday was Crayola Day. Students chose one color and dressed all in that color. Wednesday was wacky day. We saw outfits from spikey hair to superman boxers. It was definitely wacky. Next came Thursday which was dress to impress. Students wore their Sunday best and showed off their nice side. Lastly was Friday with the traditional orange and black day. Everyone wore orange and black and piled into the gym during sixth hour for the pep assembly. During the week, student participants were counted to keep track of each grade and staff for a competition. This year the first place went to the Juniors, second to the Seniors, third to the Sophomores, and in last was the Freshmen.

Excitement began to build as the students piled into the gym. Once everyone was seated in the bleachers a hush grew over the crowd as they awaited for the arrival of the Winterfest court. Once the court was crowned, the assembly began.

The cheerleaders started off the assembly, hyping up the crowd. The first game was musical pillows. Every player had a serious look as they concentrated on the game. It was an intense fight between sophomores and seniors in the final two. Sylvia Hamara pulled out a victory for the seniors.

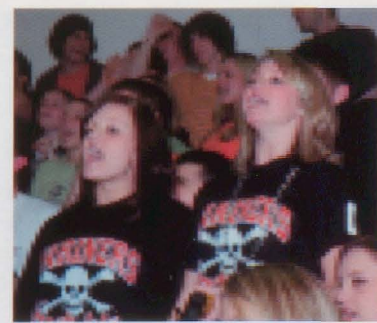

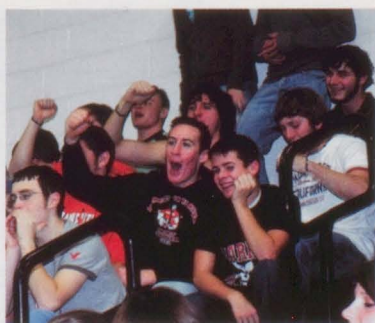

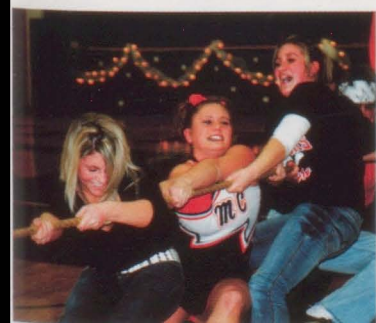

The next game was leap frog. It was a close game and the seniors won a second victory. Knockout was third, the students played against each other and teachers to knock each other out at basketball. Nichole Mazey gave juniors their first victory.

The crowd really started to cheer when it came to the pie in the face game. The staff lined up and were anxiously awaiting to see who would get pied. Each student had to eat the pie in search for a staff picture. But, what students didn't know was that on all four pies were pictures of Mr. Rhein.

Tug-o-war was the final game played. The sophomores and seniors battled it out at the end once again. The sophomores came out with the final victory. Everyone cheered loud and played tough and the seniors were pronounced the winners.

Queen Kelley Werden and King DJ McKellar

Students sat at the edge of their seats, hearts racing as they waited to see who would be crowned 2006's Winterfest King and Queen. After voting for nominations and then for candidates, the representatives for each class were announced. Princess Lauren Volkman and Prince Chad Zimmerman were the freshmen class representatives; sophomore representatives were Princess Amy Walentovic and Prince Jeremy Kierszykowski. The junior Winterfest representatives were Princesses Aubrey Bourgeois and Tracie Frank and the Princes were Jacob Kern and Robert Awe. Those who walked down the aisle were the senior Winterfest court members. Senior court included, Princesses: Georgia Dewey, Kelley Werden, and Aubrey Zimmerman and Princes: Aaron Herman, DJ McKellar and Eric Myers.

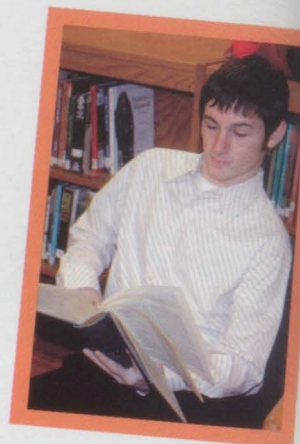

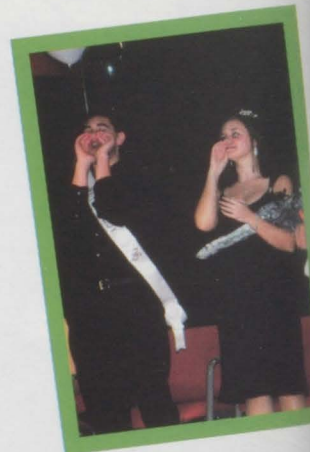

Following tradition, the King and Queen were not revealed until the pep assembly. Everyone was eager to hear the results. Speculations flew until DJ McKellar and Kelley Werden were crowned King and Queen.

After the crowning ceremonies were completed, the Winterfest games began! Winterfest court members reigned until February 11th, 2006 at the Winterfest dance. Congratulations to all of the court members; they all deserved the recognition from the very start to the very last celebration.

Winterfest Primp Pictures Party Dance Dance

Stripes, polka dots and plaid attire all in black and white filled Marine City High School on February 11, 2006. The theme for this years Winterfest dance was black and white. Silver stars cluttered the ceiling of the entryway with black walls, and on them, black and white pictures of this years students and teachers were posted. Balloon archways with black, white and star balloons were seen around the three entryways of the doors to the gym and white lights bordered the gym floor. At 7:00 after people waited in line, which seemed like forever, they finally were able to hit the dance floor and get their boogie on. The DJ played an array of music from country and hip-hop to rock n' roll and rap. Everyone had a fun time dancing and hanging out with their friends.

When people got tired from dancing and were thirsty and hungry, students could visit the activities area, which was transformed, into a black and white kaleidoscope café. The café had chips, Pepsi and water (black and white drinks) to offer to the guests. Everywhere you looked you could see the theme of black and white emerge, may it be from the guests of Beetlejuice Cruella DeVille, a dice and a domino to the neatly decorated hallways of black fabric and white lights.

Before the night was over, everyone could be seen taking pictures to look back to, so they could remember the memories they have made that night.

Wishing he could run away and join the circus is Jason Sausser.

Dribble Pass SCORE SHOTS

MC BASKETBALL! The Marine City varsity basketball squad came out this year with a sense of freshness and excitement. The young team did their own thing, despite various injuries. The team worked long hours at practice, learning their plays, and did what they needed to do to have a successful year. With a new coaching staff, a twelve-member team, the Black Hole and many other fans behind them, they were ready to get their season started.

Their first game was against Algonac. It was a tough loss, but they were determined to come back as an intimidating team. With almost every game following, they always played nail-biting games. A few key games came down to the last second, such as when the Mariners beat Madison Heights with Stephen Faucher knocking down a three-pointer with one-second left on the clock to win the game. They also had a tough loss against Marysville going into double overtime. Despite their record, they still worked their hardest and never gave up. They stuck together and played every game like it was their last, leaving nothing on the court. The varsity boys had an exciting year and as always gave the fans a good time.

Dig Set Ace Kill

Just like the past four years, the varsity volleyball team started off their season with a new coach. Without knowing who it would be until two weeks before try-outs started, the junior and senior girls were pleasantly surprised to find that their coach would be Mr. Felax. He was a familiar face around MCHS, where he coached JV baseball and 8th grade basketball. Coach Felax worked very hard to get the girls ready for quite an intense season. He went to many clinics and read many books to prepare himself for the challenge he had in front of him. With all of his hard work, and with that of the 12 girls on the team, the Lady Mariners proved to be another great team in Mariner history by finishing second in the MAC Gold division and another winning season. There were also various records broken this season by Becky Kerby (assists), Aubrey Zimmerman (digs) and Georgia Dewey (aces).

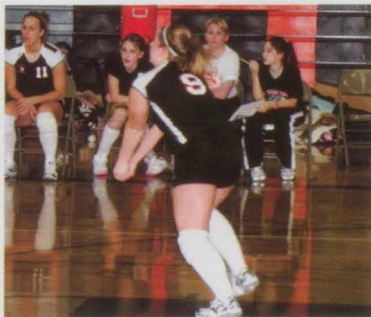

The 2006 varsity volleyball team was led by a very active group of seniors. Captains were Georgia Dewey and Melissa Wejroch, who served as all-around players, playing both defense and at the net. Joining those two was Nicole Lubinski, who played middle hitter. Becky Kerby was the setter, while Aubrey Zimmerman and Jessica Paciorek served as the defensive specialists. Juniors Becky Andrews, Lauren Aures and Sam Brinson played in the defensive positions. Nichole Mazey and Shannon Lubinski, both Juniors, were two dominating forces in the front row. The lone Sophomore was middle hitter Jessica Rombach. With the great talent of these ladies, they proved to the crowds that Mariner Volleyball was going to do whatever it took to win.

A perfect set from Becky Kerby is followed up by an undiggable attack from Jessica Rombach.

Intently listening to what Coach Felax has to offer to the team are Jessica Rombach, Becky Andrews and Lauren Aures.

Getting ready to dig an attack is number 8, Jessica Paciorek.

Sometimes the coaches were demanding and the practices were exhausting but the team's effort and hard work paid off to another great season. The boys were always supportive and their spirits were always high whether they were winning or losing. At every swim meet and practice the boys would be cheering each other on. When it came to diving at the meets the team made up a cheer for each diver. This kept the divers pump up and the crowd entertained.

The swim team had three new welcoming additions they were exchange students Mathus Galelli, Gustavo Abiz, and Francisco Alves. All three exchange students were from Brazil. Being on the Mariner's Boy's Swim and Dive team was a great experience and is something they can take home with them and remember for their lifetime. Everyone gave 100% and never gave up throughout the season.

The team had two outstanding captains, seniors Clinton Doak and Keith Emery. They were both very focused, dedicated, hardworking, and devoted leaders. Captain Clinton Doak beat the record for the 100 meters free-style, with a time of 52.24 seconds this season. This year the captains, the team, and the coaches gave it their all. Way to go Boy's Swim and Dive Team to another exiting and great season.

"Watch out, Watch out, Watch out!" No team has worked as hard as this years Varsity Competitive Cheerleading team. Every one of their practices consisted of countless repetition of their material, and critiquing it to perfection. They had a private gymnastic coach that would come once a week to continuously improve their skills. Throughout the season they had their share of sprained ankles and broken wrists, but they managed to pull through just fine. All their hard work paid off!

This season's Cheer Team has come so very far from what you saw football season. But this time, all their hard work was tallied. They would wake up very early every Saturday morning to cheer their heart out against many other schools from all over Michigan. At each competition they performed 3 rounds. Round one showed off their full cheering ability, where as round two they performed perfect skills, such as jumps, splits and back-handsprings. And lastly, which was one of the crowds favorite, was the stunting round. The girls were judged from precision, and flexibility, to excitement, and matching smiles. Overall the girls had an outstanding season, one of their best.

The Varsity cheerleaders were not only very dedicated to their practices and hard work, but very creative as well. Their goal was to make this season fun, and full of energy, and they did just that.

2007 Responsible mature Juniors Fantastic Exciting

From the start of this year, the class of 2007 has been enjoying the Junior life by being allowed to leave campus for lunch. May it be to McDonald's, Dairy Queen, Subway for the special of the day, or to a friends house, they have been able to have more choices. They've been able to take on more responsibilities by taking tests for college and starting to explore possibilities for the future. The Juniors that are now able to go to TEC (Technical Education Center), to gain more experience and knowledge in the fields the would later wish to pursue as a career.

They stayed busy this year with raising money to host prom for the Seniors. The class had to raise money by setting up the Powderpuff football game and the Rock-a-Thon. Everyone who participated in these events had a lot of fun. With the Powderpuff game and the Rock-a-thon combined, the Juniors managed to raise about $6,000 for prom. Float buidling this year was held at Lauren Aures' house, which was the perfect location. The theme for homecoming this year was "Fall Legends," so the Junior float's theme was the "Nightmare on Meisner Road." Everyone had a fun time staying late and working hard on the float.

This year the Junior class officers included, President Katelyn Parslow, Vice President, Sarah Hauke, Secretary, Tracie Frank, and Treasurer, John Strieter. The Junior Class officers worked hard this year making decisions for Prom. From the start of the year to the end of the year, they worked hard and made this year a memorable one.

The Junior Class officers of 05-06 are Tracie Frank, Sarah Hauke, Katelyn Parslow, and John Strieter. They have done a fabulous job supervising the events that occurred throughout the year.

SOCIAL

The Sophomore class got off to a very respectable second place in the float building for Homecoming. The theme for Homecoming was Legends of Fall. Class officers President Alisha Klaassen, Vice President Jerrod Black, Secretary Megan Tomasek, Treasurer Amgela Wescott and fellow classmates, supervised by Miss Redburn, worked frightfully hard to create their graveyard and over 8ft. tall haunted house. There was plenty of action on the float. A bat circled overhead as a Mariner threw a football to his teammate and the opposing team player, the Shorian half in the grave, shook his head in disbelief as the Mariners buried the Shorians.

Sophomore class advisor, Mr. Jedele, was happy to see the class participate in many activities. Everything from donating to the Katrina Relief Fund, to helping Student Government do an outstanding job transforming the school for the Homecoming dance. Sophomores really show their school and class pride, dressing up during spirit week, going from comfy pajamas one day, to formals the next and cheering the loudest at the pep assembly.

Nervous NEW 2009 Timid involved freshmen

Beginning the first year of high school can be a very intimidating thing. But not for the freshmen class of 2009. They came into high school being a very enthusiastic class. Never afraid of getting involved is what the class officers did. Always ready for the pep-assemblies and jumping right in.

Not only were the freshmen well involved, but they were a very friendly bunch as well. Always willing to help each other out, and always going the extra mile. Although it was a disappointment by not receiving first place for float building, their memories of their class mascot (Luther,) and building stronger friendships was a time they will never forget.

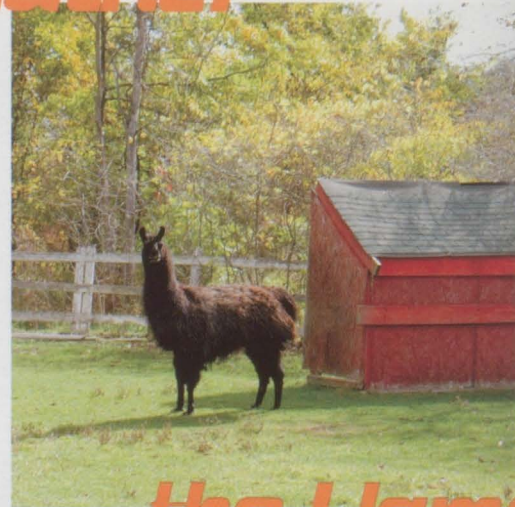

Leading their class this year were President Kelsey Biewer, Vice-President Brad Francis, Secretary Alexandria Vintevoghel, and Treasurer Ashley Beversdorf. They contributed and helped make the dances and events very enjoyable for their class. Not only did the class officers make their first year of high school a huge success, but the whole class did as well.

Food II FAMILY Over the River and Through the Woods

When you smell spaghetti and you hear an Italian woman barking orders from the kitchen to, "Stay out of the sauce," the scene comes to life in Mariner Drama's third production for the 2005/06 school year. The company presented the comedy Over the River and Through the Woods. They put on three spectacular performances on the dates of February 24th & 25th. Dealing with a small, but powerful cast of only six people; they muscled through rehearsals in the midst of winter semester and a MIFA competition in just a few months.

The principle cast consisted of Dan Stover as Nick Cristano, Alex Maggetti as Frank Gianelli, Cate Eppens as Aida Gianelli, Nick Wood as Nunzio Cristano, Melanie Maggetti as Emma Cristano, and Aubrey Bourgeois as Caitlin O'Hare. The cast and crew spent many hours creating set design, memorizing lines, and clarifying tricky stage directions. The captivated audience laughed until it hurt, cried until their eyes were dry, and left with a warm feeling of a good Italian feast. Mariner Drama has set the bar even higher with this production of Over the River and Through the Woods.

Caught off guard wandering through the PAC is director Mr. McCulloch.

On stage, Aubrey Bourgeois listens patiently as Dan Stover tells his story.

With cane in hand, Nick Wood does an incredible job not breaking character.

Busy in the Black Box during rehearsal is Jessica Wood doing her homework.

Powderpuff Stuff Smash Spike Serve Volleyball

There are no words to describe the performance put on by the junior and senior boys at the 2006 Powderpuff Volleyball game. The gym was filled with quite a large crowd that anxiously awaited to watch these boys show their "skillz" on the court. The teams were coached by either the junior or senior varsity volleyball players, who made sure their teams were ready to go the night of the big game. There were a few practices that the boys got to come in from the cold weather and fine tune their rusty skills. The junior and senior boys fully participated in this extravaganza by dressing up from head to toe, and giving their full out effort. The participants ranged from a junior "Princess" to a senior "Ugly Lady" and "Python."

The games were close but it was the dominating seniors that took the entire match. During the first game the seniors easily won 25- 15. The juniors came back in the second game by winning 25- 23. In the third game, the senior boys knew they couldn't go down two games to one, so they rallied back from a loss and smashed the juniors 25- 14. Again, however, there was a let-up on the senior side and the juniors took the fourth game 25- 23. The decision was made in the fifth and final game where the match came down to serves and keeping the ball in play. The seniors pulled through to finish off the juniors with a 15- 12 victory. Following the championship win with the juniors, the senior boys took on the senior varsity volleyball players. It wasn't even a close game until pity from Coach Felix, the scorers table, and the crowd set in, that they got back into it. But like anyother challenges that came their way, the senior girls came together and showed the boys where they were meant to see volleyball: in the stands!

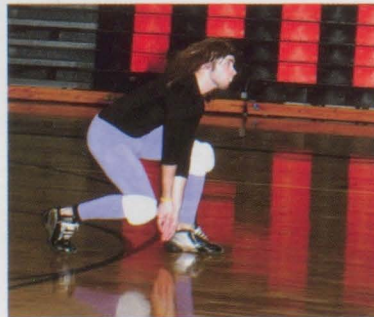

With help from the student body, parents and participants, the Varsity volleyball team was able to raise $436 for the volleyball program. It was money well needed and earned for the teams that will go to help pay for possible new jerseys and warmups for next year's team. The night was filled with great entertainment and let everyone that came go away with a smile on their face.

The seniors start off the match with a bang by breaking through their homemade sign to show the juniors what they can expect in the game.

Senior Paul "The Python" Gale notches another ace as he smashes the ball over the net on his wicked serve.

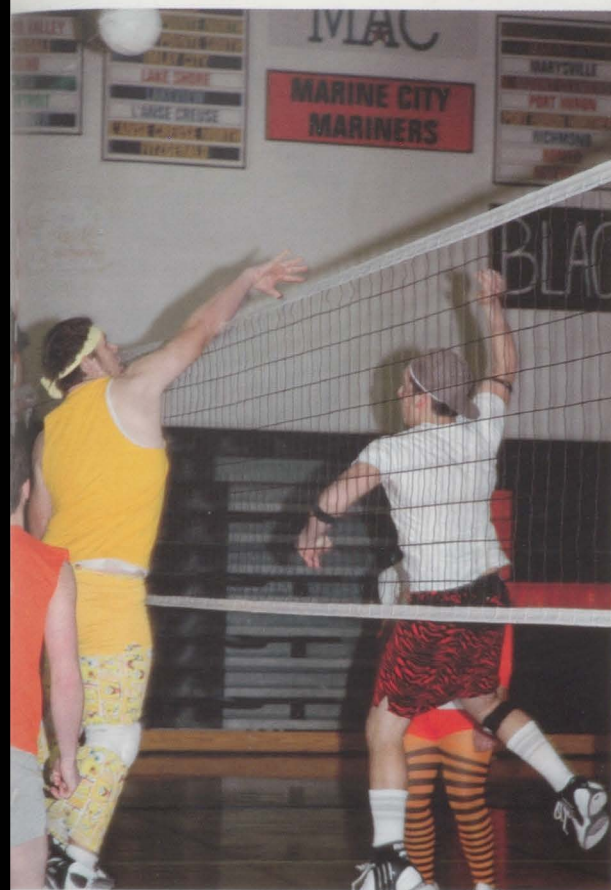

Down and ready to dig anything that comes his, or maybe her way, is Ryan "Ugly Lady" Genshow.

The junior coaches call a timeout during the game to try to keep their team from being pulverized by the seniors.

Below: Even though they didn't win this year's Powderpuff Volleyball match, the junior players, along with their coaches, can still put on a smile and look forward to next year's match as the big, tough seniors!

Left page: Lenny Detamore and Brad Yadon fight over who is going to keep the ball in play. Chris "Princess" Otto acts as a by-stander and watches the play happen.

It must be in the striped nylons that Matthew "Squanto" Morningstar can get the serve over the net with ease. Kass "Royal Coyle" prepares to play defense.

The announcer for the big game was Aaron Herman. He made sure to entertain the crowd with all of his funny anecdotes.

Setting the ball for another attack by either Brent "B-Dub" Welser or DJ "D-Mac" McKellar is David "The Romanian" Jude.

Tough guys wear pink and it obviously shows as Kyle Krueger serves the ball to the seniors. Joe Stackpoole looks on during the serve.

Student Government

plan Create vote Outgoing

Busy as Bees. That is the best way to describe the members of Student Government this year as they were running around to get everything done. This year there were 110 members, and they began their work before this school year started. To launch the beginning of the new school year, Student Government helped out at Freshmen Orientation by showing the incoming freshmen around and introducing them to the expectations of Marine City High School. Members also helped teachers set up their classrooms before classes resumed. Next in line for Student Government events was Homecoming. All members voted on what the theme should be, and Fall Legends was the top choice. The Student Government team did a fabulous job setting up the halls and gym for a spectacular evening. Then they went on to put on blood drives, the Staff-Student Basketball Game, the Winterfest dance, Powderpuff Volleyball, Walk America to raise money for premature babies, and Staff Appreciation Day.

Managing Student Government were the wonderful talents of their advisors Mrs. Reichle and Mrs. Sagan. The officers of the 05-06 school year were President Lindsay Ostin, Vice President Aubrey Zimmerman, Secretary Sarah Hauke, and Treasurer Jessica Paciorek. They did a great job leading and organizing the events. Some events may be tough to get done, but the members of Student Government make it look easy and make it look good. Student Government is an important part of the school and they make the year fun and exciting.

Far Right: The stars that Jerrod Black is reaching for are easy to get, as he's helping to decorate the halls for Winterfest.

The hot chocolate has to be perfect before Leah Kane can drink it during her break while float building.

As there needs to be seating during Homecoming, to take a rest from the dance, Robin French helps set up the chairs.

To better oversee the decorating for Homecoming, Ryann Daigler sits on Kaitlyn Bieth's shoulders.

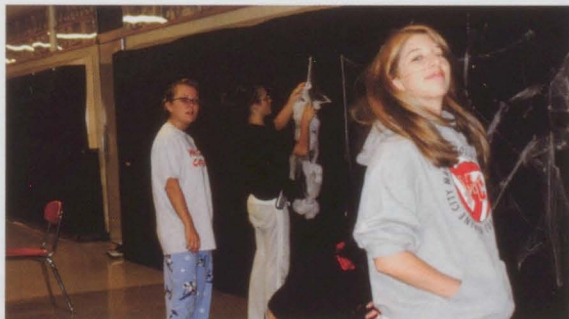

Helping to hang Homecoming decorations, Aubrey Smith is making sure her fellow Student Government member isn't going to fall.

of TEAMWORK Learn of Compete MARKET of Business Professionals Of America

Business Professionals Of America is extremely fun and exciting for all its members. B.P.A. provides leadership skills, personal and professional growth, and career related competitions. The goal of B.P.A. is to help better prepare students for a world-class workforce. They are working to achieve this by advancing in leadership, citizenship, academic, and technological skills.

B.P.A. had one of the the highest number of state qualifiers at the regional competition. Georgia Dewey, Steve Dobbs, Becky Frickert, Andrew Henderson, Mike Heuninckx, Leah Kane, Kelly Kucharski, DJ McKellar, Lindsay Ostin, Kendall Ostrowski, Cory Rice, Karie Schmid, April Teller, Heather Tuzinowski, DJ Watta, Brent Welser, Alyssa Yeip, Aubrey Zimmerman, and Chad Zimmerman all qualified for the state competition. They all traveled to Grand Rapids, Michigan to compete against about two-hundred students from across the state. They competed in events such as prepared speech, economic research, informational technology and parliamentary procedure. The competition lasted for three days; from March 17 to March 19. They raised the money by selling pies and working in the school store. Everyone was very successful and had a great time at states.

Responsible, intelligent, and honorable are just a few words that could be used to describe the group of individuals involved in the National Honor Society, however the common phrase "actions speak louder than words" rings true when referring to NHS. The National Honor Society organizes and participates in many fundraisers and community service activities. Working concession stands at basketball games, honoring the principals during Principal Week, and giving teachers balloons and candy on their birthday are a couple of ways NHS members help the school. The National Honor Society also serves the community, in fact this past year they helped to hand out soup at Helping Hands, sent birthday cards to the elderly, and raised money for the Make-A-Wish foundation.

The National Honor Society is a group lead by Mrs. Coverdill and the student officers, Hannah Schmitz (president), Kelley Werden (vice president), Katelyn Achatz (secretary), and Lisa Meldrum (treasurer). With the support of Mrs. Coverdill, the NHS officers and members were able to, not only serve the community, but also appreciate the importance of helping others.

Ecology Club

Clean

Respect nature

The Ecology Club started this year with heads held high and spirits ready to make this year the most memorable! Recycling tons of paper every Friday is the Ecology Club members. Starting out their yearly field trips at East China Park, doing their yearly water testing. It was a wonderful and interesting time exploring the stream by looking at the insects and animals that live and interact with the stream. Members also got involved in snowshoeing and had a complete blast. Most of the Ecology Club members would say that their most memorable thing about the Ecology Club would be the pizza parties. It was a time that you could hang out and talk about the different activities. The Ecology Club also took care of the naturalized area. This kept a nice place for the students and staff to look at. This area had things that would be donated from staff and students. Which included things like scrubs, tulips, small trees, roses, and much more. Every year the Ecology Club would clean and straight up the area at the beginning of the year and make sure that it stayed this way. Leading this years Ecology Club was Mrs. Weins, as the advisor and Danielle Leenknecht, as the president. Every Ecology Club member would tell you to remember to Reuse, Reduce, recycling, and recover.

Wind Ensemble Pecussion Section

John Brenner, Cory Rice, Dan Stover, Dustin Adwell, Matthew Attala

The flutes play beautifully, keeping a close eye on their music.

The clarinets work hard on playing great music together.

Ben Markel and Sarah Fergan play their trumpets in unison with Katelyn Springborn and Lesley Kucharski on percussion.

The trumpets are in great form and always stay in line.

Top: Rehearsing the alto part for their song, Tiffani Slanec and Alicia Menchaca stand around the piano and Mr. VanDyke.

Bottom: Perfecting their pieces for their concert takes a lot of work and practice, but the students in Chorale enjoy it very much.

As she is taking down her daily R.O., Rehearsal Outline, Cheryl Vandenbossche stops for a moment to pose.

Jason Itrich is singing with perfect technique and ease.

Above: Bobby Duddy is standing with the correct posture as he sings his bass part.

It is going to be hard for Jason Sausser to sing with his mouth full.

Getting his music out of his folder, Adam Kiddle prepares for another lunch practice for Men's Ensemble.

Paul Selman carefully reads the music as he sings.

Tenors Alex Maggetti, Scott Schmitz, and George Toles perfectly sing their parts.

Dodgeball Throw Compete Tournament Catch

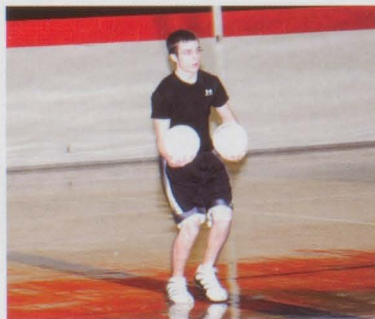

Bottom: The Best Costume winners, The Chippendale Destroyers, made up of Chelsie Smith, Nicole Lubinski, Becky Kerby, Katelyn Achatz, Georgia Dewey, Aubrey Smith, Aubrey Zimmerman, and Brittney Rhodes, wait anxiously for their first match against the Dodgers.

Catch, throw, dodge..... The annual Dodgeball Tournament was held on Wednesday, February 15th in the main gym. The tournament was a fundraiser for Jr. Football. There were sixteen teams competing, Sons of Scotland, Bieske, Super Heroes, Ocho Amigos, C.P.A., Kript Keepers, M.C. Klan, D-Ballaz, Chippendale Destroyers, The Dodgers, Reinhold, M.C. Boys, Bronx Bombers, The Shockers, Tiggobitties, and The Cottonball Pickers. The teams wore wacky uniforms to go along with the wild players. The tournament was a two game elimination, but in order to raise extra money a team could pay ten more dollars to play another game.

There were many winners of the night. The all girls team, The Chippendale Destroyers won the prize of best outfit for their tie-died shirts and crazy afros. The highlight of the night was when The Shockers played the Staff in the last games and beat them twice in the best out of three to win the whole tournament. The Dodgeball Tournament was an overall success.

Dodging a ball, Dave Jude sprawls onto the floor.

Bottom Right: Tony Roberts quickly dodges a ball before he is thrown out for being hit.

Intense

Steven Tuohey anxiously awaits to blow one of his opponents out of the game.

The M.C. Klan waits to rush up to half court to snatch a ball at the beginning of the game.

Doug Penrod fiercely eyes up his opponent and gets ready to throw him out.

Doing double time, Mike Smit tries to throw two balls at once and succeeds.

The P.A.C. was filled with laughter, smiles and gorgeous high school seniors from Marine City High. The 18th Annual Fashion Show, put on by MCHS cheerleaders, was held on March 15, 2006. The auditorium was packed as people of all ages came to enjoy a lovely prom fashion show, a play, and, if lucky, win some fabulous door prizes.

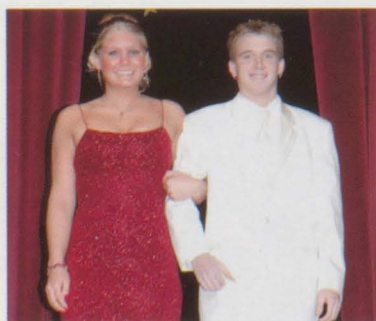

Actors put on the funny MCHS version of "Grease," starring Jessica Gisting as the All-American girl, Sandy, and our own Aaron Herman as Danny. The Pink Ladies were played by Kelley Werden, Nikki Gamble, Sarah Furtah and Kimmi Toczyłowski. The T-Birds, Allen Yokom, Paul Gale, Ian Walker and Dave Steier, accompanied the Pink Ladies to Marine City High's prom.

All in attendance on Wednesday the 15th enjoyed the beautiful display of gowns from Georgio's in Port Huron, and the tuxes from Afterhours in Birchwood Mall. All of the MCHS models looked dazzling walking down the runway. The bright lights made the dresses sparkle and the models stand out. 2006 was a year not unlike the past, where a very fun, exciting and successful time was had for all at the fashion show.

Strut Model Smile Pose Fashion Show

Before she goes on stage, Alyssa Yeip gets some help and adds the final touches on to her dress to make it look even more special than it already does.

The emcee of the fashion show was DJ McKellar. The beautiful Calla Maynard escorts him to the stage.

As the curtains open, this is the view the audience sees as the "Men in Black" appear on stage. The ladies watching definitely get their monies worth tonight!

Sarah Furtah (Frenchie) gives some good advice to Jessica Gisting (Sandy) to make her feel a little bit better about how guys don't know how to treat a lady.

Right: The cast of Grease looking amazingly beautiful in their formal wear at the conclusion of the fashion show.

Below left: Heather Smith gets a kiss on the hand from the very handsome Dave Packer. They both look so elegant in pink.

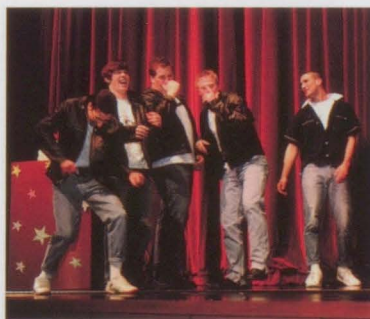

Below right: Doing the hand jive at the live televised MCHS prom is Sandy, Danny and the rest of the Pink Ladies and T- Birds.

As she blows kisses to the audience, Rachel Gostiaux models her lovely lime green dress.

Nicolette Evans looks pretty in pink as she has her hands full with the strapping gentlemen, Matthew Morningstar and Dan Stover.

The T- Birds are right behind Danny as he sees Sandy for the first time since the summer.

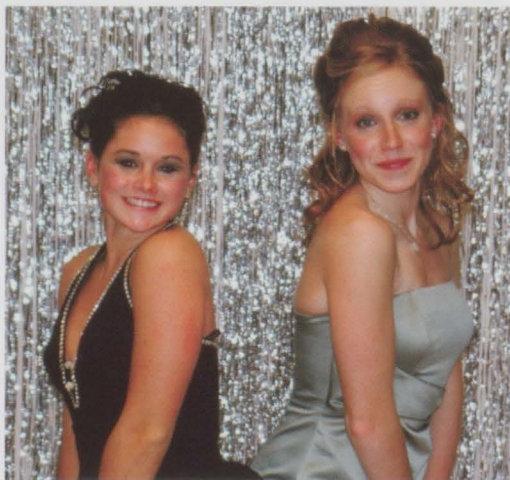

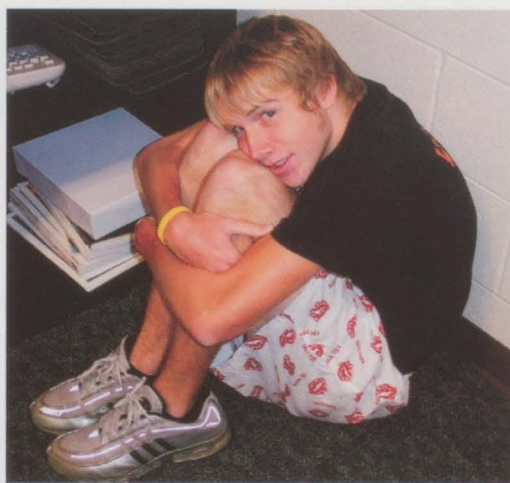

In a gorgeous color of baby blue, Sara Schultz shows off her sparkling dress.

From Start to Finish

Hundreds of students fill the hallways each day at Marine City High School. The trick to capture each student's personal memories is up to the fourteen students of the yearbook class. Working together to create a masterpiece started even before the school year had begun. Mrs. Reichle and a group of seniors get together over the summer to form ideas about the yearbook for 2006. With the cover already designed, the new class came together to input their creative ideas and opinions to give the book the extra spice it needed to be fantastic!

The theme, From Start to Finish, was carried throughout the entire book. From Start to Finish came easy to the class as they focused on hitting the theme through pictures, captions and copy. We hope you enjoy this 2005- 2006 yearbook, from start to finish.

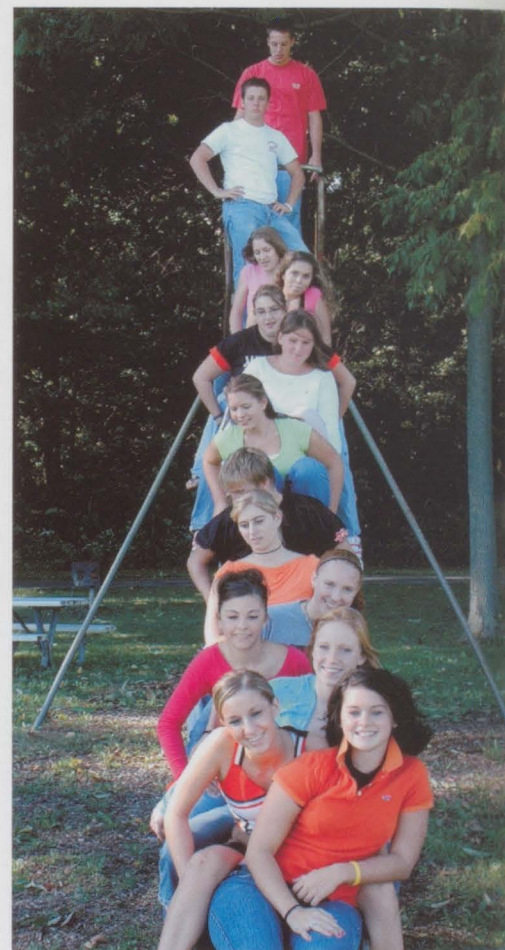

Top: Senior DJ McKellar is sent to the corner once again for disruptive behavior in class. He doesn't seem to mind it though.

Right: The yearbook class is gathered at East China Park to take a few group shots. Can you believe that the entire class fit on the slide?

On the first day of school, the yearbook class gathers rather excitedly to work on the 2006 book!

During a day of taking pictures, Sam Servick stops to take a break and strike a pose.

The Three Amigos, Kyle Krueger, Brent Welser and DJ McKellar goof around during class and climb to the top of the lockers.

Helping out on picture day are Danielle Leenknecht and Christy Lake. They make sure everyone looks their best!

Capture Design Gather Photograph Yearbook

Amber Rudolph struts her stuff in the hallways while multiple flashes go off her way.

"It's like taking candy from a baby." Hannah Schmitz and Brittney Rhodes steal bikes from the middle schoolers and ride around during class.

While at East China Park, Aubrey Zimmerman, Katelyn Parslow and Kelly Kucharski take a ride down the slide.

An all group shot is taken on the merry-go-round of the 2005-2006 yearbook members. It was a pleasure to create this year's book!

Georgia Lyn Dewey

Most of the world will never see the quiet, shy girl you used to be. You have grown up to be a beautiful, self confident, outgoing young lady. We know you will succeed in whatever goals you strive to obtain. Keep your Faith and believe in yourself, and you will continue to prosper. We are sincerely PROUD of you!

Love and God Bless,
Mom and Dad

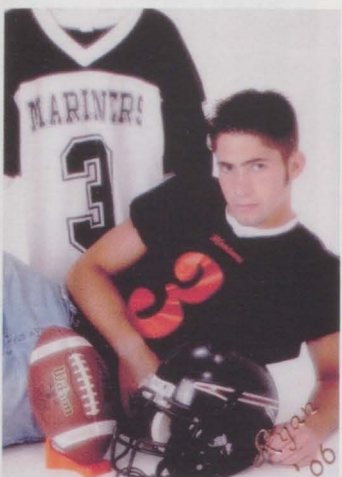

Geo,
You are an awesome sister. Thanks for always being there for us. We don't know what we'd do without you. We love you!

Ryan,

Words cannot express how very proud we are of you! You have become everything a mother and father would expect out of a son. In the past twelve years you have worked really hard and done great in school. We know whatever you have set forth in life you will succeed, because that is the kind of young man you are; someone who never gives up. We love you.

Love you always,

HEATHER TUZINOWSKI

Oh Wow,
Heather Ann we are so proud of the person you've become :
Loving, beautiful, smart, funny, creative & opinionated.

Your first words were "oh Wow."
May you continue to see the beauty & awe of all that surrounds you and be inspired by it. As God guides you in life, listen & learn from your accomplishments and mistakes; by learning a lesson from them you can grow to be whom you have always wanted to be.

May you discover a career you can feel passionate about at Oakland University. We know your passion for the landscape business has skipped a generation with you. So good luck with your career aspirations. Otherwise it's green side up for you.

Love,
Mom, Dad, Garrett & 007

Heather (a.k.a. Diddy)

You are the best big sister ever. We had many fun times when we were small. I remember building forts out of the sofa cushions, wrestling, playing basketball, snowmobiling, and having our first lemonade stand.

Now I have some of your teachers. They have good things to say about the "Tuz" (I am proudly taking that over).

Thanks for driving me to school my sixth grade year. A few times we were late because you forgot where your keys were. Just don't be late for college.

Love,
your brother Garrett

Aubrey-

So many of the good times in our lives have happened because of you. You have created so many wonderful memories for yourself and all of us through all of your activities and achievements. Thank you for all of them.

It is difficult letting you go to college, but we know what you are ready. Continue to make the right choices and stay actively involved in what you believe in. Wherever life leads you, you will have a lasting effect on everyone that you meet. You are so beautiful inside and outside-don't let anyone or anything change that! As long as you are happy, we will be happy too.

Be careful and remember we will always be there for you.

Becky Kerby

Becky,

Where did the time go, we can't believe you are graduating. It seems like yesterday your Dad was looking in your bassinet at 6 weeks old saying, "I wonder what she's going to be like?"

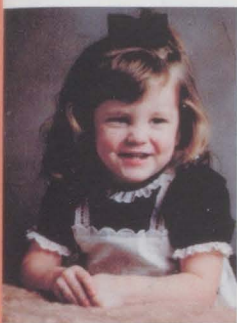

Well here you are "17 years old" and proven to be the most wonderful daughter anyone could hope for. It's hard to express the pride and joy you have brought to us in so many ways. You are our "miracle baby!"

As much as I'm not ready for you to graduate, Becky I know you are more than ready. Believe me honey, you have the ability to achieve anything you desire to pursue. Maybe even that Australian Journey you are always talking about.

We are also so grateful for the positive role model you have been for your sister. She looks up to you so much and will miss you tremendously. (Poor kid-home alone with her parents.)

We LOVE you So Much,

Mom, Dad, & Amanda

Our Dearest Leah,

You are a part of everything we love...

From your simple pleasing nature to your bold, sassy, "push the envelope" way.

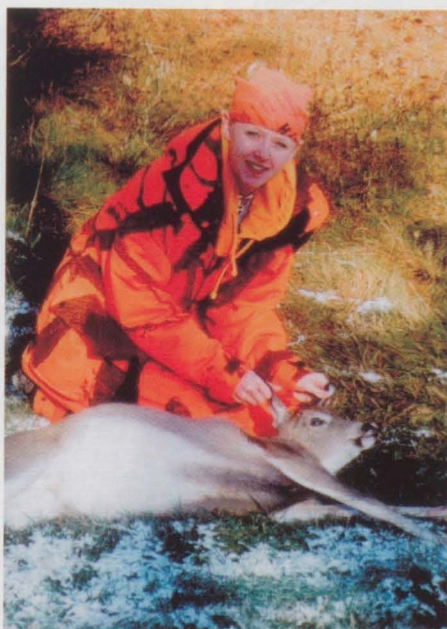

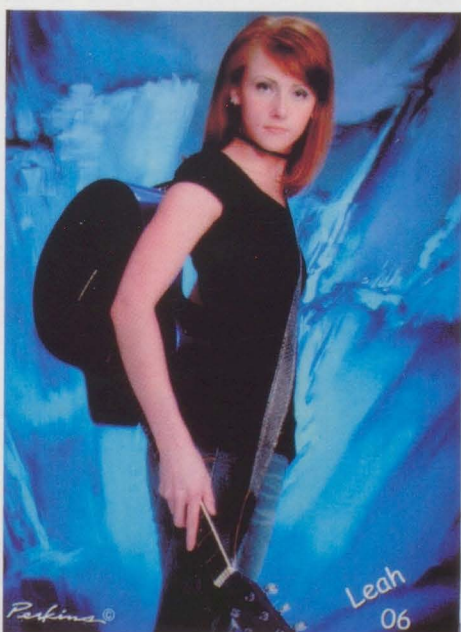

From your unselfish giving & generous helpful deeds to your pageant beauty... how do you get that "salon do" to stay.

From your God given talents that brings us so much joy to your realization of sharing these blessings in a selfless way.

We love these attitudes, attributes, your style, and so much more, because we love you and the joy you bring into our lives and others, too.

We want the only the very best that life has to offer. So, continue to work hard and do the right thing... and also know, that we thank God for the gift of you.

$5 \times 2^2 - 7 \times (4+2) = -22$

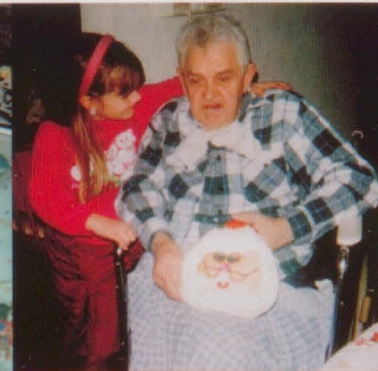

My beautiful daughter. You have been through so much and more than most teenagers your age would ever experience. Your strength and courage have pulled you through the loss of your father, step father, and many other downfalls along the way. The heartbreaks and tears were tragic, but yet you have managed to keep faith and still smile when I know you are crying on the inside. Through your hardships you have shown us all, including myself, how life has to go on. You have shown us how to keep positive and reach for your dreams to come true. On behalf of your brother, Jeff and I are so proud of you and we will always be there to help support your dreams and goals in life now and forever to come. Thank you for being a wonderful daughter and being there for me when I needed you the most. Live life to its fullest and may your modeling dreams come true. Remember these words to live by:

"Gather thy rosebuds, as you may,
This is YOUR time in life,
Don't let anything stand in your way,
Make the most of each minute,
Before it all can be taken away."

Your father would have been so proud of you. I love you my "little princess." Stay beautiful and keep reaching for the stars.

Jessi,
We love you. We're proud of you. Congratulations on all of your accomplishments. Be true to yourself and to your dreams. Don't ever settle for less. Always maintain the warmth, compassion and forgiveness that has made you the person you are. We will always be here for you, Squeeker, wherever you are, whenever you need us... All you have to do is call.

Love,
Mom and Big Joe

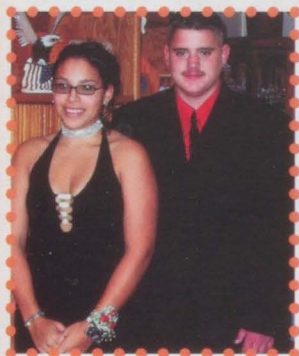

I love you Jessi!

Alex -

You've always followed your own path and found your way through. You meet adversity head on and win the challenges life has given you..

We wish you all the happiness, success, joy, and love the best of life has to offer.

We are so proud of you. Know always, you are loved -

Mom, Dad, Emily & Adele

Jessica Gistingger

As parents you have made us very proud! We are proud of all your school accomplishments but we are most proud of who you are! You are a caring friend, loving sister and not only a daughter, but our friend. Enjoy life's journey! Be happy, live for you and keep smiling and never change cause we love you just the way you are!

4 EVER there 4 U!

Love,

Dad, Vicki, Troy, Cassidy, Adrianne XO

Natalie Glasgow

Natalie,

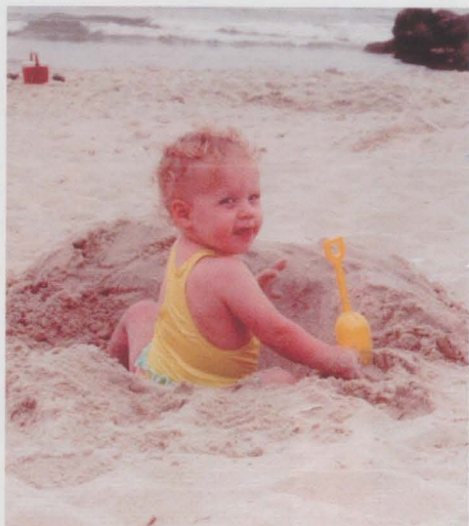

We are so proud of you! You have already accomplished so much within a short time.
We know that you will go far in life. Don't ever give up on your dreams.

"Dream no small dreams for they have no power to move the hearts of men."

Johann Wolfgang Von Goethe

With love,

Dad, Mom, Tiffany, and Nicole

Cheryl Vandembossche

Cheryl,

From CherBear

NICK MAZUR

Nick,

As you leave high school you have a whole world of opportunities waiting for you. Stay focused, determined, confident and sweet. You are so funny. Laughter is the key to happiness. We believe in you, support you, and will always be here for you. We are very proud of you!

We love you with all our hearts!

Mom, Dad & Mandy

Danielle Leenknecht

Congratulations Kiddo!

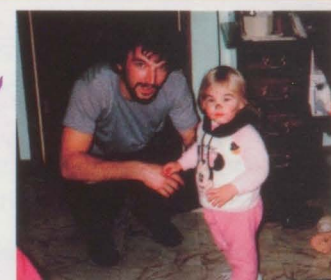

Where did the time go? You've grown from that adorable little baby girl to a beautiful young woman. Never lose the sweet smile you have always had from a toddler. Always believe in yourself and you can accomplish anything.

Love always Dad & B-Beth

Congratulations,

We are very proud of you. You have grown up so quickly. You are such a wonderful person. We know that whatever you put your mind to you will accomplish.

Love Mom, Dad, and the girls.

Dawn Hewelt

"Dawnie,"
You are our sunshine! You make us happy and very proud! Never stop being, and doing your best!
Con"grad"ulations~ We love you.

We Remember

Looking back on the last four years, and the risks we have taken along the way.
Our story began so long ago,
even if it seems like yesterday.

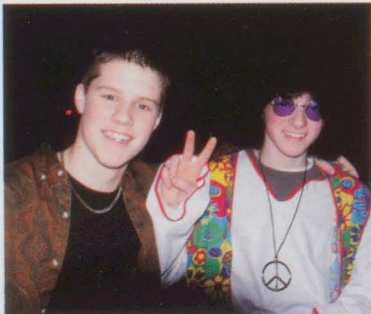

Eyes fixed on our schedule,
knees quivering and a sweaty palm.
We took our first steps into our classrooms, desperately trying to stay calm.

Just uneasy freshmen we were,
all unsure where we fit in.
But time came and went and things happened,
we soaked in the memories as they came.

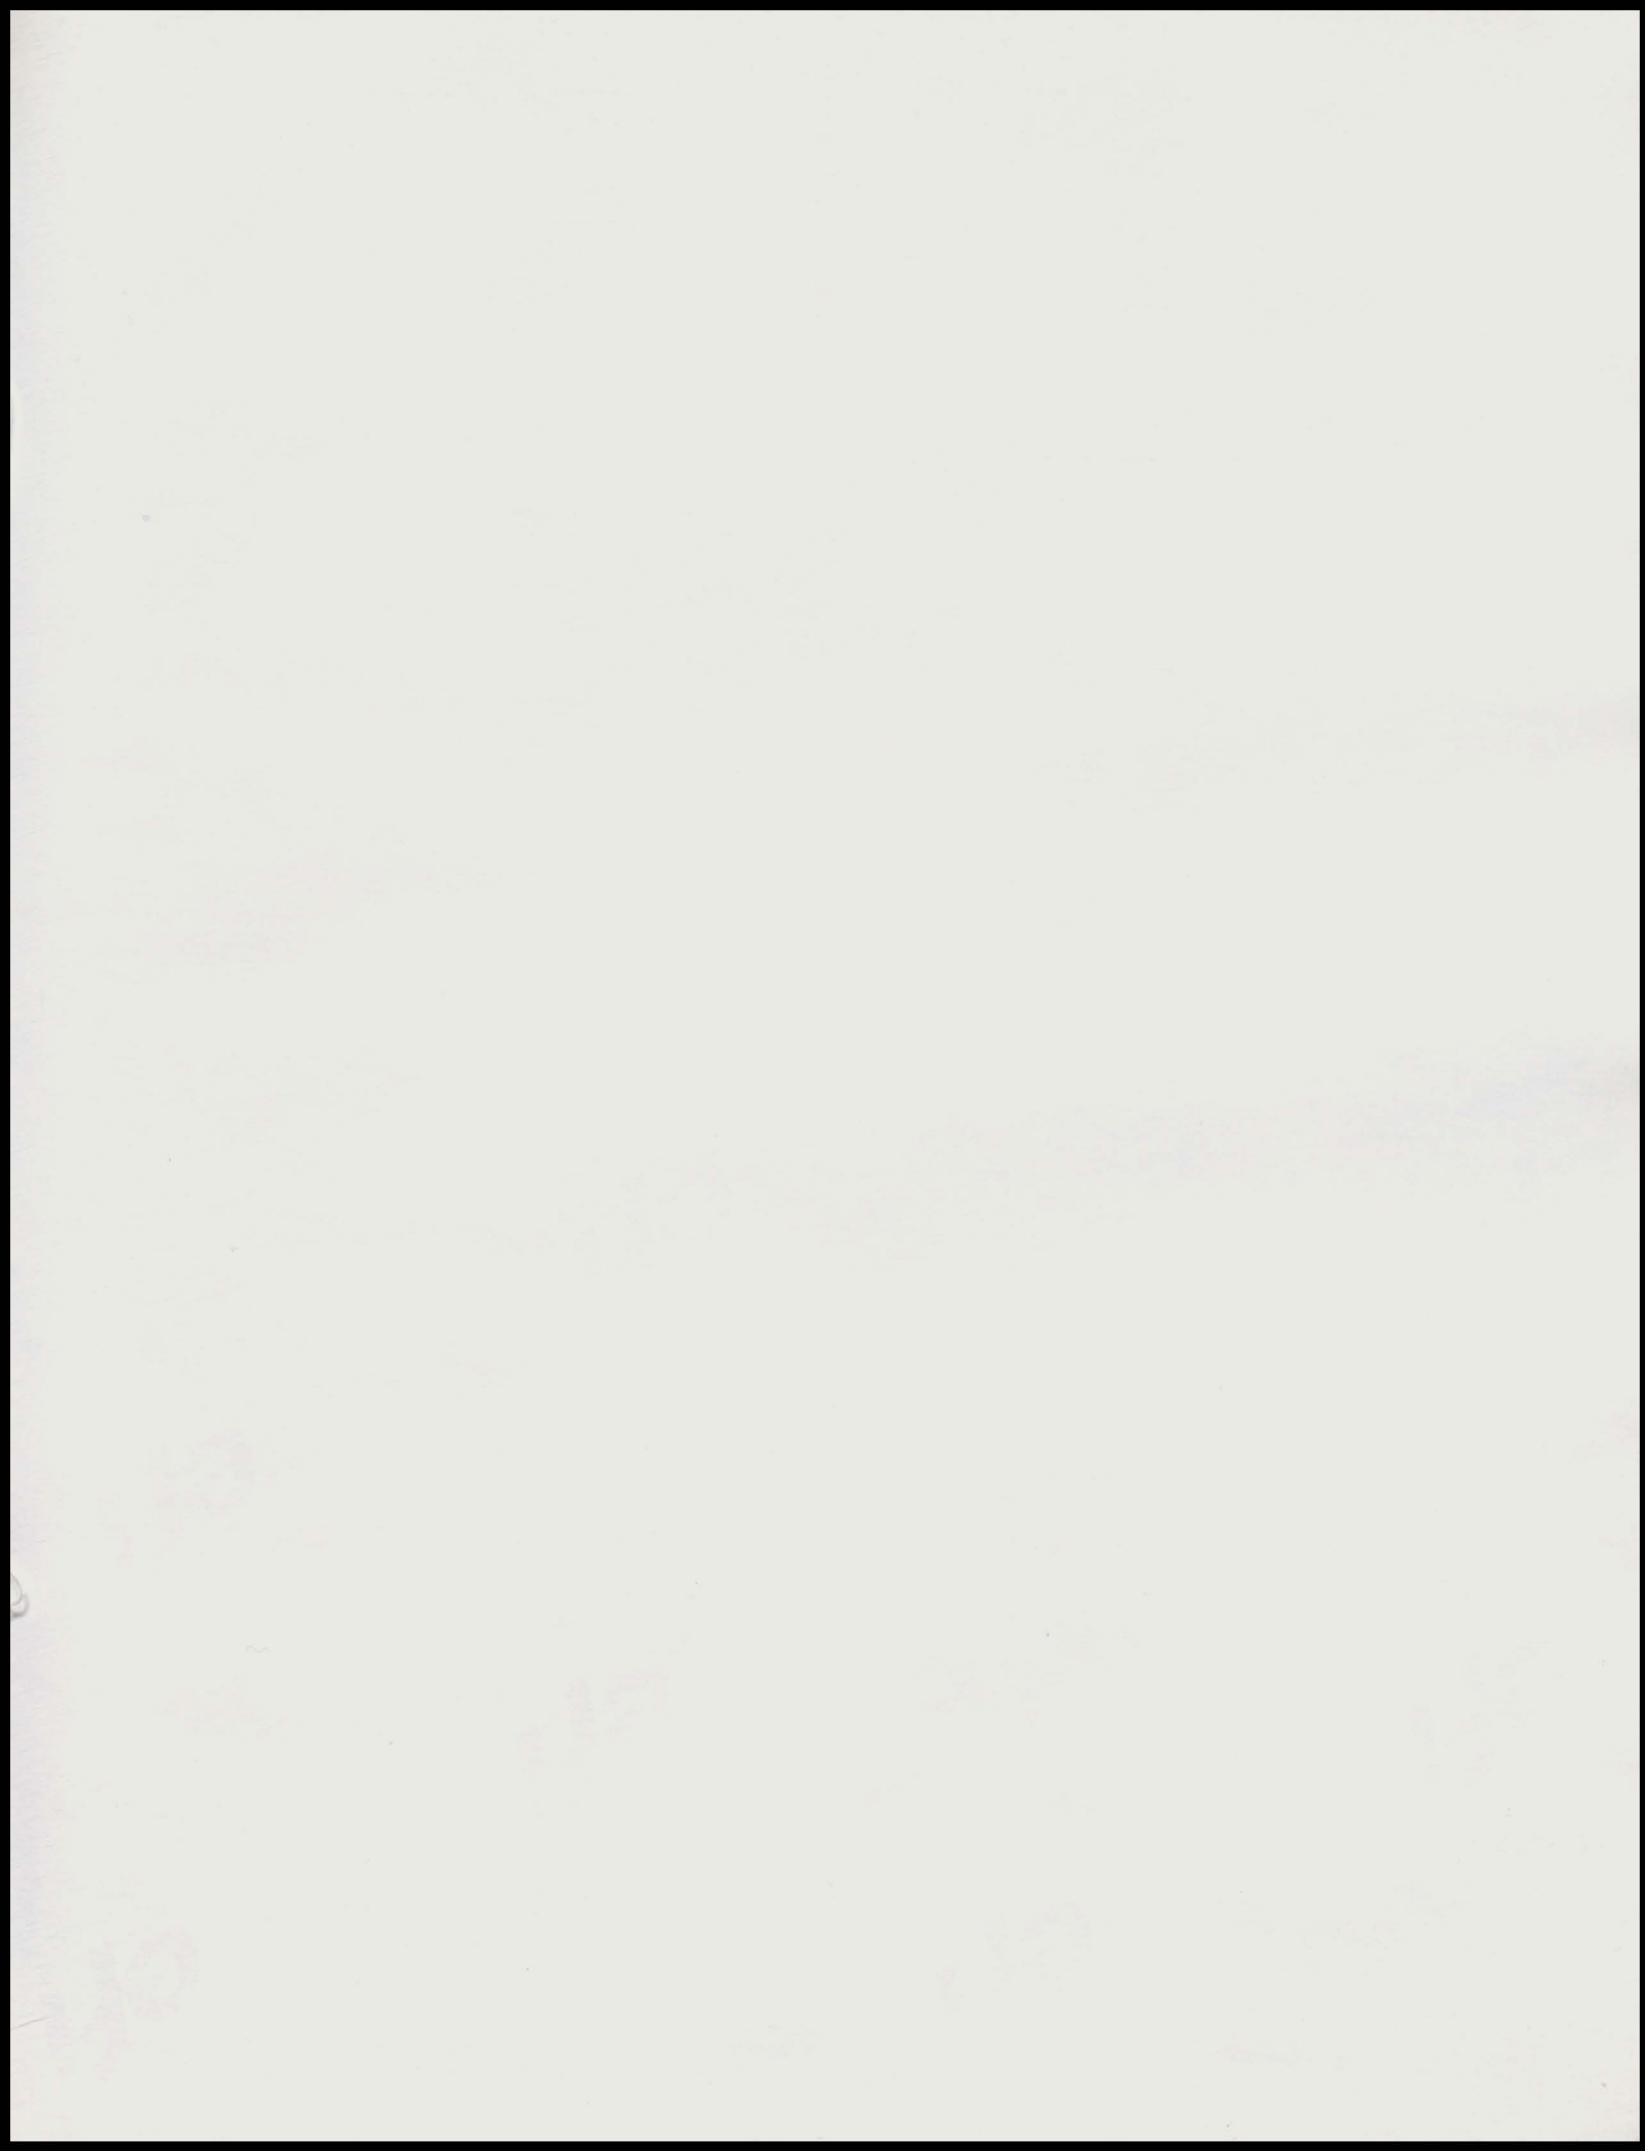

Through these last four years,
knowing that the rest of our life soon begins.
And when that time comes and it's our turn at last.
I hope we remember where we came from,
when these days have passed.

Prepared for the future,
we'll go our separate ways.
Hoping we embrace the way that we were,
as the Class of 2006.
